National Train Day - The first National Train Day will take place on Saturday, May 10th. Visit Wilmington's historic train station. This Furness-designed structure is in the midst of celebrating its 100th anniversary. Learn more about the important part railroading has played in the development of Wilmington, our state, and our nation. Did you know that the Wilmington Amtrak Station is the 11th busiest, out of more than 500 Amtrak stations nationwide? Did you know that from the late 1800's through the early 1900s, Wilmington was the leading rail car building center in the nation? DART is joining with Amtrak and transit systems throughout the country to spread the word that transit and rail service offer us the best in clean, efficient transportation. Ridership is growing more each day. And last, but not least, celebrate National Train Day by taking a train ride. You can purchase your ticket in advance or at the station. While on board you can relax, enjoy the ride, see America close-up, read, talk, work or take a much-deserved nap. For more information on National Train Day events go to amtrak.com.
